FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS ABOUT CHOLESTEROL TESTING

Q If I have no other risk factors such as family history, diabetes, high blood pressure or smoking, do I need my Cholesterol checking?

A Probably not – The best thing to do is to eat healthily and in moderation as well as taking regular exercise where possible.

Q How often should I have my Cholesterol checked if I am on STATINS or have significant risk factors?

A Once a year unless we advise you otherwise.

Q Before a Cholesterol check should I be fasting or not?

A In this practice we would recommend that the first test we do is a fasting one. However subsequent ones, especially if you take STATINS, do not have to be.

Q I had my Cholesterol checked in a chemist and they said the result was borderline. What should I do?

A Please see the answers to previous questions and contact the call back service to discuss with a GP if you have any doubts.

Q Is there any other information I can read?

A Yes, we have a detailed leaflet available on our website at www.yelvertonsurgery.co.uk (click the link to “useful information”) or on request - ask at the Reception desk.
